Analysis of daily calibrations and initiation of problem solving procedures in the event of receipt of Warnings on machine parameters.

Set up Monthly Calibrations Routine to support engineering dept to set the new tool parameters.

September 2016 - April 2019

Infinity S.r.l, Bergamo

Web Designer for a reputable IT consulting firm. I have worked on various projects involving the development of websites using WordPress CMS.

My responsibilities included designing the visual aspects of the sites, organizing the content provided by clients, and providing post-sale support such as training and technical assistance.

Additionally, I assisted my supervisor in creating landing pages for web marketing campaigns. My experience has given me a solid understanding of WordPress and its capabilities, as well as the importance of user experience and design principles in creating effective websites.

2015 - September 2016

PL Group S.r.l, Monza (MB)

As a Web Designer for a marketing agency, I have developed numerous websites using WordPress for various businesses and small-medium enterprises.

My responsibilities include maintaining and updating the company's websites, as well as providing technical support for clients' sites.

My experience with WordPress has allowed me to create dynamic and user-friendly websites that meet the needs of my clients and their target audiences.
